No Picnic, a Fight
Limits to a Dog's Tail
3 Cheers for Eric Nelson
Current Events

HOW quickly time passes, for those far beyond the horizon of childhood. Remind me of fifty that Coolidge finished his first year as President last Friday, and he will say, "Impossible." It seems only yesterday that Harding died. That much water has gone over the dam since that death, and much oil, too.

THE old parties begin to realize that there is to be a La Follette fight, not a La Follette picnic. First the railroad men, now the American Federation of Labor as a whole, back La Follette. It is not easy to predict or exaggerate the number of votes that La Follette will take from the two old parties, while they don, and decide that nomination of two nice, safe, conservative men makes it safe to do nothing.

UNLESS someone comes to life in one of the big parties, the betting will soon be even that none of the three candidates will get a majority in the electoral college. If the election is thrown into the House, it is up to go thence to the Senate, making Governor Bryan Vice-President, then President automatically.

To realize how little your neighbor knows about government processes, ask him what chance Bryan has of becoming President and hear him tell you that it is absolutely impossible.

PROFESSOR HENRY P. FAIRCHILD, worrying about the earth's future population, says that with population increasing as it did before the war, this country, at the end of this century, would have one-third more population than China, with one-fourth less land.

IN ten thousand years, says he, there would not be standing room in America.

THAT population worry, used to promote birth control, and excuse the drowning of girl babies in Oriental countries, is much exaggerated. If a couple's tail continued to grow all its life as rapidly as it grows in the first three months, an old dog would have a tail ten yards long. But as Henry George remarked long ago, the tail stops growing at the right time. "The Lord arranges it so that trees shall not grow into the heavens."

NEWS of a great victory in war could not have been more gratifying than Eric Nelson's safe arrival in Iceland. "That is the dog," was the other American fliers turned back, was the story of Nelson on Saturday. But that young flier is not named Eric for the dog, but the other American fliers turned back, was the story of Nelson on Saturday. But that young flier is not named Eric for the dog, but the other American fliers turned back, was the story of Nelson on Saturday.

SIMPLE American souls read and talk about European diplomacy, without understanding any of it. Lloyd George read all the fact that all Prime Ministers concerned long ago accepted the Dawes plan. Germany accepted it, also, although here we are told that Germany's acceptance is the remaining question.

THE WHOLE plan began with the American gold. Germany, we are told, that the plan fails. We are to supply gold to start Germany's wheels revolving. From Germany's industry, we are to get money and raw materials. Germany will get money to pay France and Belgium, and England, possibly.

FINDS COP GUILTY OF BEATING

Wilson Reverses Verdict of Trial Board That Acquitted Patrolman

Upsetting the verdict of a departmental trial board, Police Commissioner Wilson today found Patrolman George P. Milan of the Roxbury Crossing station guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Never before in the history of the department has a commissioner reversed a verdict of a trial board. Milan, who was found guilty of beating a prisoner in a cell, was sentenced to seventy hours of punishment duty.

Captains Kneeland, Hickey and Smith were on the board which tried and exonerated the policeman. Captain Jeremiah P. Gallivan of the Roxbury Crossing station brought the charges, at the instance of Thomas Dunlap, twenty-six years old, of Roxbury.

Dunlap was arrested charged with being intoxicated. He testified that during the night he heard someone scuffling in the corridors of the jail and peered out. Milan and two other policemen, he said, were beating a prisoner.

"Let me have the keys and I'll get the man," Milan is alleged to have said.

It was charged that he then opened the door of Dunlap's cell and gave him a blow which came near to costing the prisoner the sight of an eye.

Smith and Hickey ruled that Milan's charges were not sustained. The commissioner thought otherwise, after reading the transcript of the evidence. He took the case out of their hands, considered a public hearing himself, and today announced his verdict and sentence.

At the commissioner's office today it was announced that a trial board consisting of Captains Hickey, Kneeland and Smith had found Patrolman McClellan and Richmond not guilty of conduct unbecoming to such in uniform.

THE whole plan began with the American gold. Germany, we are told, that the plan fails. We are to supply gold to start Germany's wheels revolving. From Germany's industry, we are to get money and raw materials. Germany will get money to pay France and Belgium, and England, possibly.

Boston is Wrecked After Fall Into Sea; Crew Rescued by Trawler

Alford U. S. S. Richmond, Aug. 4 (A.P.)—The "Boston," the airplane piloted by Lieutenant Leigh Wade in the American army world flight, was abandoned early today.

Lieutenant Wade and Sergeant Ogden, his mechanic, are out of the running, though no fault of their own. They had flown 13,000 miles before they were forced to give up by the accident to their plane.

The plane was taken in tow by the Richmond, after Lieutenant Wade and his mechanic, Sergeant Arthur M. Ogden, had been forced down at sea by engine trouble while trying to negotiate the loop from Kiskadee, in the Orkney Islands.

The Richmond's effort to salvage the wrecked plane was abandoned when the machine, which had been gradually filling while being towed in a heavy sea, exploded, owing to the hopelessness of attempting for her to save it, the officers at sea.

PROVE TROUBLE WITH PLANE

The Richmond then turned about and made for Rockaway, Ireland.

Lieutenant Wade, on board the Richmond, was naturally explained over the ill fate that had brought his plane to grief and stopped his participation and that of Sergeant Ogden in the flight, when it was so near a conclusion, but he took the disappointment manfully.

FIRE HOUSE BY 'ARSON BOMB'

Lives of Ten Malden Persons Imperilled; Woman Helps to Put Out Blaze

What the police refer to as a sulphur bomb was used today in a cold-blooded attempt to fire a three-family house at No. 40 Upham street, Malden.

Ten lives were imperilled, the incendiary plot being frustrated by Mrs. Mary E. Lane, a tenant.

Mrs. Lane was absent from her home for not more than half an hour, having provisioned for the week-day meal.

SMELLS SMOKE.

When she returned she smelled smoke and traced it to the cellar. There was a small blaze on the floor stairs, which are close to an open cellar window. Mrs. Lane screamed and neighborly boys helped her extinguish the blaze.

An investigation by the Malden police and fire officials disclosed that the fire had started from a bush-shaped package, composed of a score of cards of old-fashioned matches wrapped up in a cloth saturated with turpentine.

THROWN IN WINDOW

Apparently it had been thrown in through the open cellar window, unlighted. Burnt matches in all parts of the cellar indicated that the incendiary then threw lighted matches at the "bomb" until he hit it and set it afire.

WOMEN LEADERS AT A. F. OF L. MEETING

KLAN WELL ARMED FOR 'INVADERS'

"Here to Stay," Says Leader, Driven From Bay State by Order of Governor Cox

Balked by the authorities from holding an "All-New-England" gathering in Massachusetts, members of the Ku Klux Klan have sent out a call for a monster meeting at Kingston, N. H., for tomorrow night.

Chiefs of admission to the coming meeting have been distributed by the thousands. These cards bear the signature "Ti Ho Tin" and advise among other things that "if you hear the rumblings in the distance you cannot afford to miss this opportunity."

The Swampscott meeting which was to have been held tonight has been called off as were the gatherings called for Sunday night. It is said. Close supervision of the Klans by the State police, following the pronouncement of Governor Cox, finally led the Klan leaders to the decision that nearby States would offer more suitable meeting grounds than would Massachusetts.

The fact that the Massachusetts State police and the city and town officials have shown a determination to disarm all members of the hooded order attending a meeting, in respect of legal permits to carry arms is regarded as the principal factor in the abandonment of Massachusetts as a meeting place.

The Kingston town hall has been secured for the preliminary meeting tomorrow night, while a farm just outside the town has been rented for Continued on Page 2, Column 1.

Wade Near Breakdown as Plane is Abandoned
On board United States Cruiser
Richmond, North Atlantic, Aug. 4 Lieutenant William Wade, one of the three United States Army air pilots was set out to fly round the world, stood broken and nearly in tears at this point of the cruise down today, watching the disabled airplane which had been piloted more than 20,000 miles drift slowly toward the Portuguese Islands.

As the Richmond drew away Wade looked to his look and turned inward and started for the engine room but the low line parted and the port wing of the machine was crashed by heavy seas. Experts said the machine was not worth trying to salvage.
Wade and his mechanics, Second Lieutenant Harry O'Brien, had been sent out on a new mission in the plane and on the flight.

Kirkwall, Orkney Islands, Scotland, Aug. 4. (AP)—Plans for the flight of the American round-the-world airman from London to Greenland and over Greenland probably will be altered to find a better

WILL PROTECT SELVES.
A high official of the Klan, in an interview, stated that the Klan-men who gather at the meeting Kington, tomorrow night will be well armed and ready for any attempt that may be made to either break up or interfere with the Klan in the way.

"We will be out of the jurisdiction of the Massachusetts State Constantially and there is no way that anyone can go through our pockets for weapons, said the American in-former.

"The Klan is here to stay and under no consideration are we going outside cities and towns to come into meeting in interference with us.

hill that a great band of anti-Klanners are organizing to break up the meeting at Kington, N. H.

Kington is a town of about 1,000 inhabitants, situated about eight miles from Haverhill over the State line. To reach the town it is necessary to go back into the country for about five miles. It is a town that is practically without a bill and is ever referred to as Kington Plains.
A great Klan meeting could be held in any section of the town because of the number of large level fields.
The informer of the American appeared to be very much interested in the meeting at Kington, N. H.

This meeting, he explained, would be more of a convention. Officers for the coming year will be elected.
It is expected that 7,000 new members will be received into the order.

Members of the Klan will gather from all parts of New England.
They crossed will blaze down from cording to the klansman, and all of the men will come ready to protect themselves.

Questioned as to whether or not the Klan would carry guns and clubs and other weapons, while he had played a prominent part in the meeting, the klansman replied:
FLAT COUNTRY.

"We will be ready for any emergency that arises. We intend to protect ourselves and our property."

He also said that bands of anti-Klan men from Manchester and Concord had been laying plans to attend the day's meeting, but he stated that the enemy would be greatly outnumbered and that the Klanmen

Miss Consuelo Bates of Ipswich Colony on Trip Abroad

By BETTY ALDEN

Among those for whom foreign shores have a strong pull is Miss Consuelo Bates, daughter of Mr. Amiel R. Bates of New York and Ipswich. Miss Bates is a graceful dancer of Terpsichorean and not a little of her time has been spent in Paris perfecting herself in the art of dancing.

Those who attended the "rain or shine" held recently on the old estate at Magnolia were delighted with the special dances given by Miss Bates, who sailed back to Europe on board the France just a few days after the late.

Miss Bates' mother, Mrs. H. Bates, formerly resident in Boston, where Miss Consuelo made her home for many years. The late Mrs. Bates was a social leader in Ipswich and was a member of the Ipswich and Boston societies.

Among Miss Bates' fellow-passengers on board the France were Walter and George H. Bates, who are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Bates of No. 2 Commonwealth avenue, and both received their education from Harvard in June. Indebtedly, they are both kindly interested in dramatics, and during their college career they were much of the force in the various theatricals staged at Harvard.

WELCOME additions, indeed, to the colony at Magnolia by the Bateses are Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Knowles of Cambridge. The former Amy Thorne's popularity was well attested to when she was elected president of the club last year, and under her leadership the club has been successful in many of its projects.

Mr. and Mrs. Knowles are at present guests, spending much of their time in the city and in the country. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Knowles of Cambridge, and are both well known in the city.

Ripping Hood of Secrecy From the Ku Klux Klan

Why does a Ku Kluxer put his hood on rear end first? Why does he make all the signs but the danger sign with his left hand? What are the Klan signs? Why can he look you in the eye and wear he is not a Klansman when you know him to be a member of the local Klansmen? Can a foreign-born Protestant join now? Or ever? How many Klansmen in New England? Those are some of the questions the Boston American will answer in a series of articles starting Tuesday. These articles were written by an ex-klansman of the order. The idea behind them is absolutely new. It is not primarily to expose Klan policies and principles, but Klan methods, Klan activities, Klan symbols, Klan ritual, Klan absurdities. Massachusetts is being organized for the Ku Klux Klan.

These articles—which constitute an ex-klansman's intimate and truthful story of his connection with the K. K. K.—are timely.

Curley Lauded
Convention Hall, St. Joseph street, the speech of welcome by the Mayor and the calling of the roll of delegates were the only events of the morning. Shortly after noon the convention adjourned and members left for Nantasket for a shore dinner.

Introduced as "one hundred per cent for the working man and the workman's principle," Mayor Curley at once struck a responsive chord when he declared that the American Federation of Labor is the most important political party in America and that it is the duty of every citizen to support it.

These, he declared, were brought about by the American Federation of Labor. "I am just beginning to scratch the surface," he said. "There will be more reforms, and the American Federation of Labor is the only party that will bring them about."

"And I want to see the Child Labor law a reality. I also want to see an old age pension act in America. I want to see salaries and wages established. There must be no back from where they are today."

"Last year we increased the wages of our workers in our city. It was our part in attempting to stabilize living conditions for the workers."

Dame Fashion built the steel industry and the oil shale industry when it created the countless firms for women and the steel industry again when it created the rubber industry. SEND MOVIES Went Through Subway BY RADIO ENGLAND During Rush Hour

Experts Hope to Broadcast Them as Music to the South Coast

British radio experts are experimenting in the transmission of movie pictures by radio. The object is to transmit to a place in a beam of light before a rotating perforated disc. The rays of light pass through a second rotating disc and are received on a selenium cell. They are then translated into an electrical current equivalent to a musical note. Receiving sets will be fitted with another rotating disc equipped with a ring of electric filaments in position to receive the notes. In the line of the transmitter, a drawing is reproduced at the receiving end. A moving picture is transmitted so faithfully that every movement is reproduced.

3,000-MILE HIKE FOR 'JUSTICE'

Hollander Seeks Return of Money Paid by Him to Boston Concern

William van der Loos, a fine specimen of young manhood, has arrived in Boston footsore and weary, after a 3,000-mile tramp across the United States from Los Angeles.

Loos, who is from Holland and a resident of this country since more than a year, started on his hike to Boston, not as the result of a war, nor as a publicity stunt, but because of dire want.

He seeks justice and the return of $20 alleged to have been taken from him by a Boston manufacturing concern.

Upon his arrival here Loos went to the office of the vice-consul for the Netherlands, where he was given a loan of $20 for food and lodging. He seeks employment pending the outcome of suits against the company which he alleges is responsible for his being in financial straits. He was introduced to Attorney Ralph Evans of No. 13 State street, who said he would take steps to recover the money lost by his client. Attracted by the promise of a $20,000 yearly income as State distributor for the Boston firm's product, Loos invested his savings and was designated as sole Pacific Coast agent for the company.

Later he avers he found several other persons were acting in the same capacity. When he called this to the attention of the Boston firm, Loos says he was informed that whereas the company had guaranteed he would see no competition they were distributing a new device similar in character and had a perfect right to compete against themselves.

Loos says he lost every dollar and hadn't money to buy a ticket to Boston.

Loos has letters of introduction to several Boston men and he will seek their aid in finding a position until Attorney Evans' suits against the Boston company are settled.

RUSHING TO GET INTO "I PLAY SAFE" CLUB

GENERAL FOOTE GOES "I PLAY SAFE" CLUB

By HERT FORD.

Brigadier-General Alfred F. Foote, Commissioner of Public Safety for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, has given the "I Play Safe" Club his official seal of approval.

General Foote said: "A great united effort in this direction will accomplish much."

Realizing that the Boston American educational campaign to reduce automobile casualties and to make the highway safe, is in line with the work of his office, General Foote has directed that the 150 or more operators of automobiles and motorcycles in his department display the "I Play Safe" emblem on their vehicles and that they and all members of the Department of Public Safety who drive public or private cars sign up and enforce the spirit of the "I Play Safe" Club.

STRIKER NEW NOTE

General Foote had "General Order No. 4" struck off and issued it with special instructions to Captain George A. Parker. Both ordered as members on the spot.

General Foote struck a new note when he urged all members of the Department to sign up the "I PLAY SAFE" CLUB. He made it an obligation, adding, just as three times a day, officers of the State of Massachusetts, equipped an innovation in having their whole family of members enroll and called upon every father and mother in the land to be likewise for the safety of life and limb on the streets and highways.

Leaders in official life of New England were quick to group the spirit of the Boston American's "I PLAY SAFE" CLUB. They and all hundreds from all over New England have been signing up in appreciation of the total lack of driver's license or multiple elements in the law.

They saw at a glance that the "I PLAY SAFE" CLUB is based on GOOD WILL and generous, ruled by the law. They said it called for cheerfulness and the aid and respect for official charged with motor vehicle and traffic laws.

GAIN AN INDIVIDUAL

They saw that it would tend to promote safe and sane driving on the streets and highways and to make safer for themselves and their families.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 4.

1. All automobiles and motorcycles belonging to and used by this department will display the emblem of the "1924 Drivers' Club, Boston American—'I Play Safe,'" and drivers of these machines will observe the pledge.

2. One of the greatest problems is that of safety upon our public highways, and the problem grows greater each day. Needless loss of life and injury can and must be stopped.

3. Cars must be exercised by everyone. By being careful in crossing streets or roads, by observing and complying with traffic regulations and signals is the safest, if not the only way to eliminate or to reduce the large number of accidents.

4. While this order directs that the above-mentioned emblem be carried and the pledge observed on State-owned cars, it is also urged that members of the department who drive cars aid in this movement to promote safety by obtaining the emblem and subscribing to the pledge.

By order of A. F. FOOTE, Commissioner.

to discourage reckless driving and other evils of the road.

It is all a matter of psychology, say you who choose to look at it. It is all a matter of safety and to continue to THINK SAFETY and you will be found to win greater safety.

Remember what State Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin says:

"It's a matter of mind. Proper mental attitude is worth more than all the mechanical devices invented or that can be invented."

BATTLE OF CHAMPIONS 'NATURAL'

By JACK CONWAY
WHEN Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, and Benny Leonard, king of the light fly class, elated in a 15-round bout to a decision at the Yankee Stadium on August 20, it will be a struggle between a terrific body puncher and a brilliant boxer who does his heavy execution with a right-hand smash to the jaw. Walker, the irrepressible, battered Jack Britton into submission with a body attack, while Leonard's speed and ability to score with right-hand blows to the jaw have enabled him to turn back all those who have threatened his prestige as lightweight champion.

It is the fact that the two men are of the same age, 25, and that they are both of the same nationality, Irish, that makes the fight so interesting. The two men are both of the same age, 25, and that they are both of the same nationality, Irish, that makes the fight so interesting.

As great a crowd as that which saw the two men knock out their way to the Yankee Stadium when Leonard and Walker met in the first round of the fight, will be present to see the two men meet in the 15-round bout.

PAUL HENREICH has been in the news of late on account of his demand for $100,000 for the rights to the film of the fight between Mickey Walker and Benny Leonard. The fight is scheduled for August 20 at the Yankee Stadium.

AN effort is being made to get Jack Blachard in the city next to September. The fight is scheduled for August 20 at the Yankee Stadium.
